

THE POETRY COLLECTION

The Poetry Collection is contemporary poetry's library of record, comprehensive in its holdings of first editions of poetry published in English in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The collection holds over 100,000 volumes; a little literary magazine collection of approximately 5,000 titles, of which 1,200 are current; and more than 150 manuscript collections, including the world's largest archive of James Joyce manuscripts as well as the archives of Robert Graves, William Carlos Williams, Wyndham Lewis, Basil Bunting, Robert Duncan, Dylan Thomas, Helen Adam, Theodore Enslin, Robert Kelly, John Montague, and Michael Palmer. The Poetry Collection contains the archives of many important twentieth-century presses and little literary magazines, and also contains a substantial collection of broadsides, photographs, paintings, sculptures, mail art, and visual and concrete poetry. For more information about the collection or to inquire about its bpNichol and other Canadian small press materials, call (716) 645-2917 or write to lpo-poetry@buffalo.edu. <http://ublib.buffalo.edu/libraries/units/pl/>
